

◆ Firearms identification:

Tool machines may produce different consumptions that were worn and torn through time; firearms produced by these tool machines also produced all sorts of different changes as the ones that wear and tear, these changes make the differences among the individual are considered as bases for the comparison and identification of the head of a bullet and shell.

Instrument: bullet collect box

Application : In firearm examination, collect the bullet for comparison of traces on fired ammunition

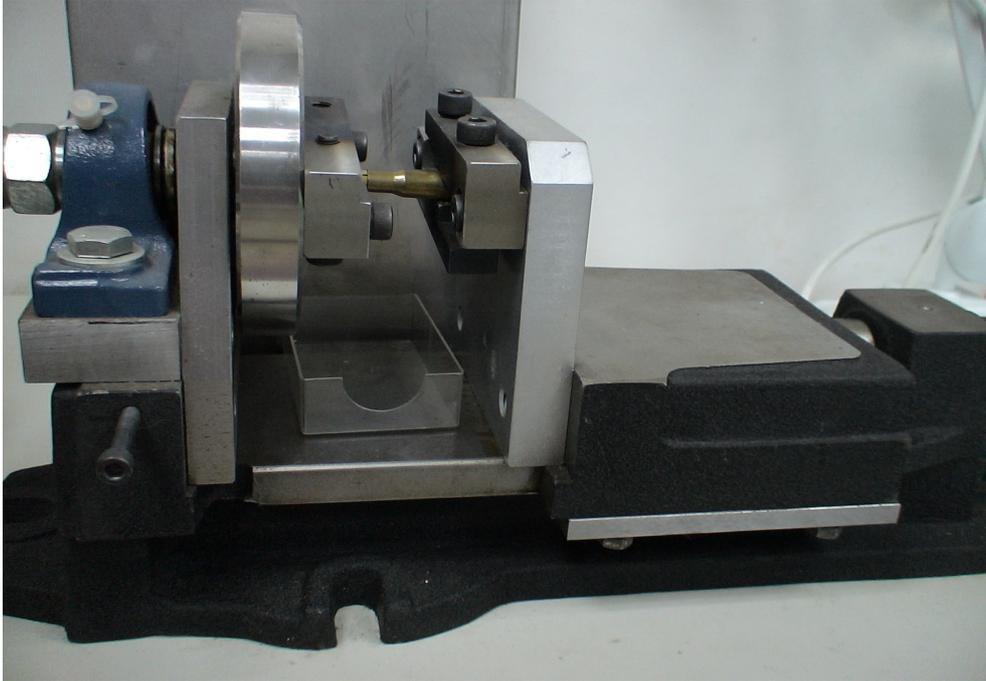

Instrument : Ballistic speed measurement system

Application : Measurement of ballistic speed for wounding capability computation

Instrument : Auto-fired machine

Application : Hold the gun and auto-pull the trigger

Instrument : Bullet disassemble instrument

Application : Disassemble bullets for analysis the contents