

◆ Examination of seal, rubber stamps and rubber stamp impressions

A seal is an impression-producing device which is commonly used for personal and business purposes. In many criminal cases it becomes paramount importance to demonstrate that a seal impression was prepared through the utilization of a specific stamp device. Certain class and individual features of both the stamp and the impression are used in combination to provide such a demonstration.

